Employees Quit Work When They Find that Appropriation has Been Exhausted.

NO WARRANTS ARE ISSUED

Appropriation Ordinance Passed by Council Fails for Want of Executive Signature.

All work on both the paved and unpaved streets, on the sewers and at the city park was stopped this morning because of the lack of funds to pay the employees. The fourteen men employed in this department had heard that their warrants for work during the last two weeks would not be issued as usual today, and came to the city building in a body. When they demanded payment they were informed at the treasurer's office that the funds were depleted and that no additional appropriation had been made by the council at the regular session last night. They had kept in touch with the first ordinance which was not signed by the mayor.

The disappointed group then retired to the outside of the building and discussed the situation among themselves. The six men employed in sweeping the improved streets decided that inasmuch as the city was already indebted to them for two weeks' work and there was no immediate prospect of getting this or future wages, that they would discontinue work until some arrangements were made. The force in the street department reached the same conclusion and finally the men left the city hall. The teamsters were also present, but refused to go to work unless some promise of money was made. Some of the councilmen were at the city building when the employees were there and explained the situation.

At the meeting of the council two weeks ago an additional appropriation of $1,300 was made for streets and alleys during the remainder of this year. This ordinance, however, "died" by default as the mayor did not sign it, explaining that he objected to it as $1,000 was provided for sweeping improved streets and only $300 for the unimproved streets.

It was thought yesterday that an attempt would be made to pass this appropriation over the mayor's veto, but no effort was made at the council session last night. Mayor Ross said today that he would not have been surprised if the ordinance had been passed over his veto, but was gratified that his veto was allowed to stand.

In an interview today with the councilmen it seems that while nothing definite has been decided upon, an effort will be made at the next session of the council in two weeks to pass an ordinance so that some of the street and park work at least, can be continued this year. However, until that time all work will cease unless the employees later decide to continue work with the prospect of getting paid for it.

HOSPITAL LEVY IS PASSED OVER VETO

By Unanimous Vote Council Gives Two Cents on Each $100 to Local Institution.

APPROPRIATION VETO STANDS

Remonstrance Filed by Property Owners to Improvement of Alley in Hustedt Block.

By unanimous vote the city council Thursday night passed the levy of two cents on the $100 for the hospital over the veto of Mayor Ross. This veto and also that to the section of the general appropriation ordinance which provided $3,400 for sweeping and flushing the improved streets next year were read with the accompanying message at the regular session of the council. Hodapp's motion to pass the hospital levy over the executive's veto was passed without a dissenting vote. Andrews' motion to pass the appropriation for sweeping the improved streets in 1916 was lost by a vote of four to three, five votes being necessary to pass it over the veto. Hodapp, Andrews, Ahlbrand and Steinwedel voted in favor of the appropriation and Rockstroh, Ley and Murray opposed it.

There were an unusually large number of visitors at the session last night and it was necessary to bring in additional chairs to accommodate them. The word had gone around that a lively session was expected, but it was unusually brief, adjournment being taken before 8:15 o'clock. Quite a number of citizens were interested in some of the business that was to be transacted and were present to see what action was taken.

Thursday night was the time for hearing remonstrances to the proposed improvement of the alley between Indianapolis avenue and Ewing street in the block bounded by Second and Third streets. A remonstrance was filed by Mrs. Carrie Colvin, Mrs. Irma Hoeferkamp, the Blish Estate and Jesse Hill. Mr. Hill was present and spoke against the proposed improvement. An objection was also entered by Eugene Smith in behalf of his sister, Mrs. Hoeferkamp. On motion of Ahlbrand, the remonstrance was referred to the board of works.

Rockstroh reported that Joe Hedges was building a garage at the rear of his residence on East Second street, and had found that a telephone or electric light pole was directly in front of the door and had asked for its removal. On Rockstroh's motion, the utility owning the pole was instructed to remove it, the city clerk to give the order to the proper company.

Rockstroh also reported that the sewers on Mill street and Ewing streets were in need of flushing and on his motion, the street commissioner was instructed to do the work.

Steinwedel, chairman of the board of safety, filed the resignation of Joe Day as volunteer fireman, which was accepted.

A long list of claims were read and on motion of Andrews, all those (Continued on page 6, column 2)

Fleet Footed Train Riders Make Escape in the Darkness

Bang! Bang! Bang! Halt! Halt! Halt!

The sharply given command, accompanied by three or four reports of a pistol, was heard by residents in the east part of the city about 9:30 o'clock Thursday night and resulted in much guessing as to the cause of the commotion.

Residents who happened to be on Mill and Ewing streets at that hour were surprised to see two men darting in and out of the yards, closely followed by another, who with a revolver pointed in the air, was firing in rapid succession and ordering the men to stop. The pursued men apparently did not desire to meet the pursuer face to face and despite the pistol reports, kept on moving at an increased rate of speed.

No report was made at the police station about the chase. However, it appears that the two men had been riding on the northbound Pennsylvania train due here about that hour and when they were seen they started to run. It is said a patrolman happened to be on the train and gave chase.

It is stated that on several occasions lately men have been known to ride the train for several blocks and then pull the air valve on one of the coaches as they departed. The train comes to a sudden stop and the crew is compelled to hunt over each coach to locate the valve which has been tampered with. It is stated that the practice is exceedingly dangerous for if the fireman was stooping over the open fire box when the air was tampered with he might be thrown into the fire.

COUNCIL TO HOLD SPECIAL SESSION

Andrews, Ahlbrand, Steinwedel and Hodapp Filed Petition With Mayor Late Today.

DESIRE TO PAY THE EMPLOYEES

Effort Will be Made to Appropriate Sufficient Money to Pay Wages Now Due.

Late this afternoon a petition signed by Councilmen Ahlbrand, Andrews, Hodapp and Steinwedel was filed with Mayor John A. Ross asking that a special meeting of the council be called tonight. The reason for the special session, the petition stated, was to take up the matter of appropriations. The mayor granted the request.

It is generally understood that the four councilmen whose names were affixed to the petition desired a meeting called at once in order that some arrangement be made to pay the employees for the work they have done during the last two weeks. About fifteen of the employees called at the treasurer's office this morning for their warrants and were officially informed that the appropriations for the streets and park were exhausted.

According to reports late this afternoon one ordinance will be presented asking that sufficient appropriation be made to meet the wages of the unpaid employees.

It was also stated that the mayor has asked the city attorney, Albert H. Kasting to prepare an ordinance providing for an appropriation of $600 for sweeping and flushing the improved streets and $700 for repairing the unimproved streets. When interviewed this afternoon some of the councilmen declared $700 would not be sufficient to defray the cost of the flushing and they could see no reason why an inadequate amount should be passed. The mayor has already stated that he will not consent to an appropriation of $1,000 for that purpose.

Defense in Mayor Joseph E. Bell Trial Wants to Know How $25,000 Was Expended.

REPORT FROM THE EXAMINER

County Auditor Instructed to Give Itemized Statement Concerning Expenditures.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, September 17—The prosecution in Mayor Joseph E. Bell's trial on election corruption conspiracy charges, wondered today if opinions from the state examiner's office would force it to give in detail the way in which the $25,000 appropriation for the trial was expended.

County Auditor Patton had not decided if he would obey the examiner. The latter has stated that the prosecution should give an itemized statement of the expenditures. A legal clerk in the examiner's office admitted today that the opinion was revolutionary. Asked whether Patton would be forced to follow it he said, "He'd be better, we'll examine his office." The defense would be benefited by such a statement, it is thought.

Thomas Campbell, colored, testified today that when he went to register a policeman told him he didn't have any right about the polls. "Then he busted me one over the head. I ran so fast I lost my hat, and when he tried to hit me again, I was gone," Campbell said.

Horace Poole testified he saw Mayor Bell with his arm about Bud Gibson on election day and that they were engaged in an earnest conversation.

By United Press.

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 17—The tide of battle for possession of Nogales, Mexico, was turning against the Carranzistas this afternoon. On the defensive the Villista garrison had smashed the Carranza right wing by concentrating on it the fire of forty machine guns and forty field pieces. General Cardenas commanding the shattered wing, was unable to rally his men who fled leaving 115 dead and 300 wounded on the field of battle. Villa took 650 prisoners.

LANSING TO FILE QUERIES

Secretary of State Wants to Know Why Prize Court Thought Goods were for Germany.

By United Press.

Washington, September 17—America's protest against British interference with commerce is practically completed, the state department announced today.

In view of England's confiscation of fifteen million dollars worth of American products, this was deemed significant.

Secretary Lansing did not predict, however, when the protest would be forwarded. Many officials believed the British prize court's action would hasten matters—that there would not be much more delay.

Lansing discussed the prize court's decision with the president at the White House today.

Lansing wants particularly to know why the court believed the confiscated American goods were intended for German military and naval use. The state department has asked for a transcript of the evidence.

BULGARIA MAY TAKE UP ARMS FOR THE TEUTONS

Reports Reaching Washington Emphasize Importance of Turkish-German Victory.

By United Press.

By Charles W. Ackerman, P. Correspondent.

Berlin, Sept. 17—Reports reaching here this afternoon not only emphasized the importance of the Turkish-German diplomatic victory at Sofia but contained fresh rumors of Bulgaria's possible early entrance into the war on the side of Austria, Germany and Turkey.

Sofia dispatches today reported great demonstrations when the Bulgarian army executed maneuvers near the city.

The premier told a delegation from the Bulgarian parliament that the relations between Bulgaria and Turkey are now excellent. He said he did not believe Roumania or Greece would attack Bulgaria. "If we fight, it will be on only one frontier," he remarked.

This statement was taken here to mean that Bulgaria is contemplating war on Serbia.

Elbert Hubbard on the New Science of Health Restoration

IN order to gain an understanding of the very remarkable benefits that so many people in ill health have derived, as a result of normal condition being restored through Chiropractic, Elbert Hubbard, who lost his life on the Lusitania, made a thorough investigation of this new science of health restoration, and personally took spinal adjustments.

ELBERT HUBBARD

As a result of his own experience, he made the following remarks, which are condensed from his recent book entitled, "The New Science, or The Fine Art of Getting Well and Keeping So."

"Above all things, a good Chiropractor has faith in Nature. He does not make his proud boast that he cures people. He knows it is Nature that heals. All the Chiropractor can do is to put his patients in line with the healing forces of Nature. Chiropractic never brings an adverse result."

"The Chiropractor does not pin his faith to any single panacea. He simply knows the physical fact that a pressure of bone on nerve brings about a condition where the telegraph system fails to act properly. He sees the result, and his business is to go after the cause: With skillful manipulation of the hand, he brings about a right relationship and proper adjustment. He finds the cause and removes it."

"Chiropractors are not DOCTORS OF MEDICINE. From them we get a science which is adding greatly to the welfare and happiness, and the well being of the world."

If you are sick, worn out, or racked with disease, your trouble may be due to nerve pressure, which is hindering Nature from performing its work. Come in for an analysis and let us tell you frankly just what Chiropractic can do for you.

GETTING THE PUSH Behind Your Goods

The push of the local dealer is mighty helpful to the manufacturer with a good brand to sell. It is the key link in the chain of distribution. That "push" can often be secured as a co-operative factor to newspaper advertising. The dealer is a newspaper reader and he knows conditions in his city. He knows that the manufacturer's newspaper advertising will create a demand which he can feel. He knows it profits him to get behind newspaper advertised goods and he does it. Manufacturers needing the "dealer push" are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

AMERICAN BOYS ATTRACTED BY WAR

Embassy at London Has Secured Release of Several at Request of Parents.

Adventure and Love of Fight Given as Principal Reasons for Enlistments.

(By Wilbur S. Forrest United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, Sept. 4 (By mail)—Between fifty and sixty American youngsters have been "rescued" from the British army by the American embassy, it was learned today.

The embassy has only interfered in cases where parents of the boys have appealed for its intervention and those restored are but part of the number of ardent American minors who have enlisted under the guise of Canadians.

Notable among the erstwhile soldiers are Howard and Harold Hudson, twins, aged 16, of Bridgeport, Conn. Thanks to the embassy of Uncle Sam they are now safe and sound at home with their parents. The boys were sent to England for schooling. When war began to be the sole topic of conversation, school held no charms for the twins. They told the recruiting sergeant they were eighteen and easily passed the military examination. They soldiered for many weeks. Finally word of the true situation found its way to the Hudson home in Bridgeport. An appeal was hurriedly dispatched to the state department at Washington. It was passed on to the American embassy here. The twins were quickly "grabbed" and sent home.

Many of the youths whose soldier life has been interrupted by Uncle Sam still remain in England. In some cases their parents are unable to send them money to buy civilian clothing and return to America. No fund at the embassy provides for such expenditures. Relief societies in London are caring for some of them. An American steamship line has agreed to take three each voyage, provided they will work their way to New York.

Inquiry at the embassy today emphasized the importance of sending funds from America if parents wish the government to reclaim their sons from Europe's battlefields. When the American authorities find the boys they are, of course, garbed in Khaki. Their citizen clothing has been left behind. Funds are needed to buy new raiment. Money is also necessary for their keep and to send them to Liverpool where they may take their turn at work on an American liner.

The embassy is making the best of a bothersome situation.

Unofficial records show that more than 2,000 Americans are enrolled in the various divisions of the British army, mainly the Canadian contingent. Over 100 are dead on the battlefields of Flanders. Adventure and the pure love of "a scrap" is the motive which has impelled the majority to brave their bodies to bullets, according to the general opinion. Some few have taken to heart what is declared to be "the German menace" and have enlisted to help England, believing that America would come next on the German list if the Allies fail. This sentiment, however, is not the predominant one among the American volunteers. The majority are the care free young men of large American cities.

Americans are not only in the uniform of England but are working in various related capacities. Over fifty are actively connected with the Ministry of Munitions aiding in the re-organization of British industries. Some are mechanics but the majority are skilled engineers getting invaluable experience.

A small colony of young men from various American universities are at work in the Armament Buildings, Whitehall, London.

INDIANA STUDY CLUB.

(By Club Member)

The first meeting of the year of the Indiana Study Club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Stella Barbour with a large attendance anxious to start on the journey to the Great Lakes.

Roll Call: Preparations for the Journey. Responses were original and witty.

Song—"America for Me," Mrs. Christine Rapp.

President's Address—"Federation and What it Means." Mrs. Etta Mains gave an excellent paper telling what Federation had done for women and what the future had in store for them.

"Our Own Country"—A Foreword by Mrs. Christine Rapp. We American citizens want to know more about our own country.

Here we are starting forth on a journey at once imaginative and literary, interesting and instructive to get intimately acquainted with the ways and wonderful aspects of our native land. It is our purpose: first, to behold the gorgeous beauty and wonders of our natural scenery. Second—to go into the highways and byways and in the home life peculiar costumes of the various people who are representatives of American character. Third to become conversant with some of the problems that conserve us as good citizens. Beginning with a trip on the Great Lakes, we shall tour the New England States and get acquainted with the Cape Cod Folks and the enterprising Yankees. We shall see New York, then on down to the picturesque and historical Virginias. Of course we must all return home for the Christmas holidays around our own fire-side, in mid winter we shall enjoy the sunny South.

From the perfume and restful atmosphere of the south land our journey moves on out west where the eye and soul will be entranced with the grandeur and wonder of nature, in connection with this we must catch glimpses of what remains of the characteristic features of the Indians. While here we must come to know before his disappearance the reckless, daring cowboy. Our own country is the most magnificent, most picturesque, most varied and most delightful on the face of the globe.

Our trip on the Lakes.

Mrs. Edith Pfaffenberger starts with the Indiana Study Club, all anxious to take the trip to the Great Lakes. At Chicago we took one of the large Lake steamers. Our first stop at sight seeing is at Charlevoix and Bay View. Then to Lake Michigan and Mackinaw through Sault St. Marie, while there we shot the rapids.

Then on to Lake Superior and stopped at Ft. William and Duluth, returned through Sault St. Marie to Lake Huron, went through the Detroit River declared by some to be the most beautiful river in the world with its picturesque scenery. This brought us to Detroit, from here we went to Lake Erie, stopped at Cleveland and Buffalo, from there by rail to Niagara Falls.

In our imagination we take the wings of mercury and follow up the Niagara to Lake Ontario. This ends our trip for this time. We were all so delighted with our trip that every member is anxiously waiting to take our trip through New England.

Clerk Johnson announced that the appropriation ordinance for the remainder of this year had been returned to him by the mayor without the required executive signature. No action whatever was taken by the council after the clerk's announcement was made.

Quite a large number of bills that will be paid from the street and park funds, if they are ever paid, were presented last night. It was voted, however, to allow only those that are not paid from the street fund. If all the claims had been allowed last night the clerk and treasurer could not have paid them this morning, as the appropriations are exhausted and under the ruling of the state board of accounts, they would have been personally liable for the money if the council did not see fit to reimburse them.

Quite a number of people today were inquiring as to why the street sweepers were not at work as usual. In several sections of the city it is reported that property owners were flushing the improved streets with hose and in some places residents were seen sweeping along the gutter line.

A serious question is presented if some arrangement is not made to keep the improved streets free of trash and debris. The employees say that if the streets are flushed and are not swept, the debris will be washed into the sewers and in a very short time the tiles will be choked and it may be necessary to take some of them up. They say that the sewers will be filled up in two weeks' time if the improved streets are not kept clean before they are flushed.

Miss Marion Kattman, of Browns-town, was here this morning on her way home from Sellersburg, where she has been spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Henry Kattman, who is in the sanitarium there.

VIENNA RECEIVES DUMBA RECALL NOTE

Will Cause No Diplomatic Rupture.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The note of the state department to the Austro-Hungarian government requesting the recall of Ambassador Dumba, was received in Vienna on Sept. 10, according to advices received here.

This report was received from the American legation at Berne, Switzerland, which acted as a relay station for the note. The legation was called upon for a report on the note as a result of the failure of any acknowledgment of its receipt to come from Ambassador Penfield. The legation at Berne reported that the note had been received there and forwarded to Vienna and later reported that it had been advised of its receipt in Vienna on Sept. 10. The fact that no word has been received from Mr. Penfield is explained in Berne by that statement that communication between Vienna and Berne was interrupted for a time. It is presumed that some report from Mr. Penfield will reach the department soon.

Officials were much interested in unofficial reports published regarding the attitude of the Austro-Hungarian government toward the incident. From reading reports they were satisfied that the incident is not likely to cause any unpleasantness between the two governments and that Vienna does not desire to have the matter construed as one in any way affecting relations with the United States.

NATIONAL DEFENSE PLANS

Wilson to Hold Conference With Chairman Padgett.

Washington, Sept. 17.—President Wilson will begin in earnest his preparation for the fight expected on the national defense program at the next session of congress Sept. 29, when he will confer with Chairman Padgett of the house committee of naval affairs. It is expected that by that time the president will have received from Secretary Daniels a fairly definite statement of the general board's views regarding the building program, and that he will be ready to discuss with Mr. Padgett ways and means for securing with the least friction, action of the administration program. The president had a brief conference with Secretary Daniels regarding the problem of national defense. No disclosure of the president's views was obtainable, however.

There seems good reason for the expectation for the belief that the program to be presented will not overlook the importance of the battleship in modern naval warfare.

NO TRACE OF TRAIN BANDIT IS FOUND

Unable to Identify Tipton Suspect.

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 17.—Upon the failure of Express Messenger R. A. Williams to identify a suspect at Tipton as the bandit who held him up on Lake Erie & Western train No. 25 between Arcadia and Cicero and escaped with loot valued at about $2,500, the search for the thief shifted again to the northern part of Hamilton county.

Robert Lutz, twenty-two years old, living at Millersburg, five miles south of Tipton, the suspect held at Tipton, is still in jail there. He is held on a technical charge of carrying concealed weapons pending further investigation.

Lutz was taken from a traction car upon word from a clerk in the Meinerding hardware store at Elwood that the man had bought a package of revolver cartridges there. Lutz carried a second-hand revolver in a holster under his coat. He said he purchased the weapon at Elwood. He is a section hand employed by the L. E. & W. at Millersburg.

The Tipton suspect does not appear at all like the man described by Williams. He is fully two inches shorter and stooped. His eyes are not the same color, his features are different and he does not appear as alert as the bandit.

Williams, the messenger, and railroad detectives went to Tipton and talked to the prisoner. Williams said he did not believe Lutz was the train robber.

The last traces of the robber which have been found were the footprints he made in his dash across a muddy street at Cicero after he dropped from the express car. A second shift of detectives is at work, relieving the men who scoured the region of the robbery during the day.

INTEREST IN PACKERS' CASE

Advance Decision by British Court Comes as No Surprise.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Much interest was expressed at the state department in the reports of the decision of the British prize courts in the cases of the American packers, whose goods to the value of more than $15,000,000 are now under orders of confiscation by the British government.

The adverse decision of the court in the majority of the claims arising from the claims of the four ships involved was no surprise here. It had been anticipated as a result of the proceedings before the court. There is reason to believe that the decision does not come as a surprise to the packers themselves.

While interested in the case, not only because of the principles involved, but also because of its magnitude and the volume of American trade likely to be affected thereby, the state department has taken no direct or official part in it.

There is no expectation that the United States will take any part in the case now that it has been decided against the Americans interest.

WILL CONFER WITH FORD

Daniels to Talk Over Engine Development With Auto Builder.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels wants to discuss the question of gasoline engines with Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer. He has written Mr. Ford asking him to call on him in Washington.

The pressing need of the naval aviation service at present is a light, powerful gasoline motor. American manufacturers are so busy making gasoline motors for use in automobiles that they have not undertaken to any considerable extent, the development of the type of motor required for aeroplanes. Mr. Daniels hopes that Mr. Ford's experience in the development of a light gasoline engine will enable him to be of aid to the navy in solving its present problem.

DECLINES TO SEE HUSBAND

Mrs. Henry Witness Before Bartholomew County Grand Jury.

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 17.—Although James S. Henry, who is held in jail here on a first degree murder charge, borrowed a razor and shaved smoothly because his wife was to be here from the Woman's prison in Indianapolis, she declined to go to the jail to see him. Henry shot and killed Thomas Ohaver when he went home late at night and found Ohaver and Mrs. Henry together.

Mrs. Henry was sent to the Woman's prison for six months. When she left here to begin her sentence she said she never wanted to see her husband again. A woman guard of the Indianapolis prison brought her here to testify before the grand jury and although Henry made all preparations to see her she declined even to look at him.

To the Business Men of Seymour

Business fights shy of dead towns. A sure sign of a dead one is the lack of local pride. People who live in a live, prosperous town show it. Their stores are attractive, their streets clean, their homes are well painted.

Nothing shows a lack of pride, a lack of prosperity, like paint-hungry buildings. Let's paint up. As the most durable and economical paint, we recommend

SETTLEMENT TO BE PERMANENTBernstorff Reiterates His Statement.

WILL BE SATISFACTORY

Declares Submarine Issue Between Germany and the United States Will Be Amicably Settled Within Less Than Two Weeks.

New York, Sept. 17.—That there will be a satisfactory settlement within a fortnight of the differences existing between Germany and the United States over the submarine issue, has again been emphatically reiterated by the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff.

Although confronted with assertions that Secretary of State Lansing evidenced of not having any "perfect agreement" with him, the ambassador stood his ground and asserted that his word might be taken for it that the American people might be told not to worry, for a wholly satisfactory adjustment of the submarine quarrel was in sight.

It was learned at the Ritz Carlton, the German ambassador's headquarters in New York that the ambassador had said that he could not make any statements at that time, but he could not avoid meeting reporters who met him in the foyer as he stepped out of the elevator.

As the ambassador appeared in the foyer, dressed in blue coat and white fannel trousers, he looked quickly about him and started for his car. On the steps two reporters met him and asked him if he could not give reasons for the optimism concerning the German-American diplomatic tangle which he had been quoted as having expressed at different times.

"I absolutely deny having given out any statements for the last several days," said the Ambassador, with an emphatic sweep of his hand.

"The papers," the ambassador was told, "state that Secretary Lansing has denied that he has come to a 'perfect agreement' with you. Can you explain what you mean to say on that point?"

"The Sun quoted you as saying that you had agreed with Mr. Lansing as to the method to be followed in handling future negotiations?"

"Well, I have nothing more to say about that," commented the ambassador.

The next point regarding which the reporters asked for elucidation was regarding Count von Bernstorff's statement printed by several papers to the effect that the United States would see its desires in the submarine question granted at the end of two weeks.

"Do you still place the time we must wait at two weeks?" he was asked.

"Well, I should say about ten days," said the ambassador, "or perhaps eleven. At the end of that time everything will be satisfactorily settled."

"But satisfactory to whom?" one of the reporters said emphatically. "That is exactly what we want to know. From the American standpoint there really is no longer any controversy. The whole question now is: Will Germany disavow the torpedoing of the Arabic or will she not? You guarantee us a settlement of this question satisfactory to us and therefore we are compelled to construe your optimism as being assurance that the sinking of the Arabic will be disavowed."

In answer to this Count von Bernstorff declared with his customary gesture, "I tell you that at the end of eleven days this whole matter will be satisfactorily settled for everybody."

"And you won't see Secretary Lansing in this time either?"

"No," said the ambassador, "not until I have heard from my government. I shall see no one until I have something further to say."

"But we can say from you now at this juncture that you are absolutely certain that the differences between Germany and the United States will be amicably settled at the end of about eleven days?" the ambassador was asked finally.

"Yes, you can say that," declared the count as he made for his car.

JACKSON COUNTY IS
UNIT UNDER NEW LAW

Seymour is One of Fifty-one Cities of State that Accept Teachers' Pension Law.

The new state teachers' pension board, which will administer the provisions of the 1915 law, which created a state teachers' pension fund, has received replies from approximately thirty pension units throughout the state, signifying that they desire to come under the provisions of the state law.

Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, has made public the list of pension units, which have decided to come under the state law, as follows: Cities—Bedford, Lafayette, Winamac, Goshen, Evansville, Ft. Wayne, Logansport, Brazil, Madison, Lawrenceburg, Newport, Vincennes, Valparaiso, New Albany, Mishawaka, Corydon, Huntington, Laporte, Marion, Counties—Cass, Kosciusko, Jackson, Benton, Spencer, Posey and Franklin.

The new law went into effect August 1st and the new state board then sent out a circular letter, inviting all pension units in the state to place their pension systems under state supervision. Fifty-one cities of the state are possible pension units, which may come under the law, or have already done so. Seymour is included in that list.

DREADNOUGHT CALIFORNIA WILL HAVE "CLIPPER" BOW.

New Battleship by Her Graceful Stem
Will Bring Drastic Changes.

The new battleship California, the keel of which will soon be laid, will be the world's first electric Dreadnought and from point of size will be greater than any foreign battleship built or building. The California and her two sister ships, the Mississippi and the Idaho, already authorized, will each displace 32,000 tons, almost 1,000 tons more than the new Dreadnought Pennsylvania, now on the way to completion.

The California will be a ship of innovations. She will cost $7,500,000 without her armor or armament, which is expected to cost as much more. She will have a speed of twenty-one knots an hour, will be 624 feet long, ninety-seven feet across her beam and will draw thirty feet of water. She will carry twelve fourteen-inch guns, mounted three abreast in a turret, and twenty-two five-inch rapid fire guns and will have four submerged torpedo tubes.

The principal feature of the new Dreadnought, however, is the machinery for propelling her by electricity. She will be driven by motors which will deliver electricity made by steam. The navy experts believe the electric installation is cheaper than steam propulsion and reduces the weight of machinery. The collier Jupiter has been so successful with electric machinery that the navy feels justified in adapting it to a Dreadnought.

Outwardly the California will bring a drastic change of line and appearance to the battle fleet. Instead of the blunt gray nose of the present day big fighter her bows will be tapered into a graceful, yachtlike stem much like those of the famous clipper sailing ships that carried the American flag at the head of the world's swiftest craft in the forties and fifties.

PINSK FALLS TO
GERMAN ARMYFavorable Point to Teutonic
Invaders.

BATTLE OF RIGA IS RAGING

Invaders Claim Further Progress Toward Jacobstadt, Driving Muscovites
Back to the Left Bank of the Dvina River.

London, Sept. 17.—According to an official announcement by the German general staff, Pinsk, the Russian city in mid-Poland, 160 miles east of Brest-Litovsk, has fallen into the hands of General von Machensen's Austro-German troops.

Pinsk is only thirty miles from the Rovno-Vilna railway line, and is connected by rail with Luninjets, on that line. Von Mackensen now is expected to dash to this point, as to gain it will put him in a position either to proceed northward in the direction of Vilna or southward to Sarny, the important knot point of the Rovno-Vilna and the Lublin-Kieff railroads.

The capture of this city in itself is of less significance than are the favorable consequences which arise from it for the Teutonic invaders. By reaching this city von Mackensen's army has gained a by far less difficult fighting ground, a territory upon which it is easier to advance than it was in the marshy region which it is leaving behind, and in which it has stubbornly struggled onward against the tenaciously resisting Russians ever since the fall of Brest.

Sarny has been for some weeks the objective of the Austro-Germans, fight objective of the Austro-Germans fighting north of the Volhynian fortress triangle, Dubno-Litsk-Rovno. Its capture would compel the Russians now fighting violently, both west and east of the Rovno-Sarny section to retire eastward, and the entire new offensive of the Russians in Galicia would be forthwith weakened, if not halted and again turned into a defensive. For these reasons the capture of Pinsk represents a significant success for the Teutonic allies.

Meanwhile the Russians are continuing to hammer away upon the Austro-Germans in Galicia, in some parts beating them back slowly, but surely. Rovno, in the eastern corner of the Volynia fortress triangle, is still safe in Russian hands, and if the Slav offensive continues as successfully as it has progressed during the last few days, the apex, Dubno, will be again seriously menaced.

In the north, in the battle for Riga, which has been raging without pause since the capture of the Friederichstadt bridgehead, on Sept. 5, the Germans claim further progress toward Jacobstadt, driving the Russians back on the left bank of the Dvina.

The concentrated efforts for the Vilna-Dvinsk-Petrograd railroad, is being pushed with equal vigor by the Austro-Germans, and the official report asserts that further headway has been made both toward Vilna and Dvinsk.

The official report from Petrograd asserts that the Russians, in the fighting northeast of Dubno took one gun and seven machine guns and captured fifty-seven officers and 2,593 men. The statement adds that by "counter attacks, which followed, our troops were thrown back."

This admission is regarded by military observers as important in that it indicates the czar suspects something like a trap set by the Austro-Germans in Galicia. This trap, if in fact planned by the Austro-Germans, is plainly to lure the Russians further back into Galicia and when the armies to the north have gained the railroad centers referred to, to sweep southward, falling in the Russians' rear and preventing their escape.

The total gain made lately by the Russians in Galicia represents nearly twenty miles. Part of the Russian forces have crossed the Strypa and are now fighting, battering the partly shattered Austrian front on the western bank of that river.

The official French communique indicates that there is still little relaxation in the bombardment which has been almost continuous at many points of the front for many days past.

DIFFICULT CHANGE MADE IN BROWN STREET SEWER

Course is Altered and is Now Adequate, According to City Engineer Rights.

W. H. Rights, city engineer, has made a difficult change in the sewer on West Brown street to relieve the flood conditions which resulted after each hard rain. Part of the expense was paid by the B. & O. Southwestern Railroad company as the tile formerly went under the tracks at the fill, and part was paid by the city.

Many complaints have been made by residents in that section of the city about the inadequate sewer and after the conditions were investigated Engineer Rights decided to alter the course of the tile. Formerly the sewer was built under the tracks at the high fill, but in changing it the sewer was built on the south side of the high fill and empties into the open ditch. The sewer has been tested and found to be satisfactory.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ISSUES ORDERS TO H. S. STUDENTS
Officers Tell Boys That Manifestation of "School Spirit" Will Have to Cease.

In the future the boys of the high school will not be permitted to manifest "high school spirit" by smearing black on the faces of other students. This has been decided by the police department and orders given to that effect last night. Consequently, the "game" came to an unexpected end.

For several nights the students have organized in a band and would chase other students and decorate their faces with a black "smear." The police did not interfere until several complaints were filed that the clothes of several boys had been practically ruined with black. One boy threatens to file charges, it is stated, unless the others pay him the damage that has been done to his suit.

Last night several of the students started to organize and repeat the performance but the police interfered and there was no attempt to violate the orders.

UNIONTOWN SCHOOL HOUSE TO BE REPAIRED AT ONCE

Advisory Board Decides to do Necessary Work on Building That Was Condemned.

Daniel E. Bedel, trustee of Vernon township, was in the city today, making arrangements for the repair of the school house at Uniontown which was recently condemned. The authorities gave the trustee the option of repairing the building this year and erecting a new one for next year or closing it altogether for school purposes.

At first the advisory board thought it would be better to erect the new building at once, but since that time it has been discovered that other quarters for school purposes cannot be found. Consequently it has been decided to make only such repairs as are necessary and to erect the new building next year. The work will begin at once. It will take about one week to complete the work and the Uniontown school will not open for the fall term until September 27. Other schools in the township, outside of Crothersville, will open next Monday. Crothersville schools will open on the 27th.

JEWS OF CITY WILL OBSERVE HOLIDAY SATURDAY

Yom Kippur, Day of Atonement, One of the Important Holidays in Hebrew Calendar.

The Jewish stores of the city will be closed Saturday until evening in observation of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, which is one of the most important and impressive seasons in the Jewish calendar.

The day is set apart for self-searching thought—for a spiritual stock taking. The devout Jew faces the facts of life, the realization that there are illusions and delusions and the truth that men work under the limitations of mind, heart and will.

Although possessing this personal significance the ritual of the day is public and congregational. Suitable services are held in the temples. The observance begins tonight and continues through Saturday afternoon.

The stores here which close will all be open at six o'clock Saturday evening.

MRS. JOHN KERNAN DEAD
AT HOME IN TAMPA, FLA.
Former Seymour Woman Passes Away in Southern City After an Extended Illness.

Word has been received by friends in this city of the death on Tuesday, at Tampa, Florida, of Mrs. John Kernan, formerly of this city, after an extended illness of tuberculosis. Mr. and Mrs. Kernan lived here for many years and were well known to many Seymour people. They moved from here to Louisville several years ago, and later went to Tampa, where Mr. Kernan died a few years ago. Three sons, Edgar, John and Norman, and one daughter, Alice, are left to mourn their loss. The funeral services were held at Tampa.

Work of remodeling the Majestic theater is progressing rapidly and when it is completed, the playhouse will be one of the finest and most attractive in southern Indiana. The new tile floor in the lobby adds greatly to the appearance of the theater. By rearrangement of the seats the capacity of the auditorium has been increased.

Sunday School Lesson

September 19 Lesson XII. Third Quarter
DEFEAT THROUGH DRUNKENNESS. I Kings 20:1-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—Wine and new wine take away the understanding.
—Hosea 4:11.

This is chosen as a lesson against intemperance because of the drunkenness of Ben-hadad and the thirty-two kings who are said to have helped him, all of whom were drinking themselves drunk in the pavilions (verses 12, 16), and were thus more easily overcome by the small army of Israel. In our own day railroad and other corporations are learning that men who are given to strong drink cannot be relied upon and that it is not the part of wisdom to employ them, no matter how efficient they may be. Not only does such sin and folly take away the heart or understanding, as in the golden text, but it is apt to become most filthy and beastly and has been known to affect even priests and prophets (Isa. xxviii, 7, 8). It is utterly selfish and sensual and turns the heart away from the Lord (Isa. v, 11, 12, 20-23). Neither drunkards nor any other unrighteous people can inherit the kingdom of God, but there is forgiveness and salvation for all sinners who truly turn to the Lord and honestly receive the Lord Jesus Christ (I Cor. vi, 9-11). The contrast to being drunk with wine is to be filled with the Spirit (Eph. v, 18), and this is the privilege of all believers.

The insanity of drunkenness, with its insatiable selfishness and cruel appropriation of the prosperity of others, is seen in the demands of Ben-hadad upon Ahab for his silver and gold, wives and children and everything pleasant in his home and the homes of his servants (verses 1-6), and yet strong drink has done and is doing just that in numberless homes today. When the Lord is rejected and any other ruler installed it is always a matter of take, take, take all that one has (I Sam. viii, 10-18). How great the contrast to God, who giveth life and health and all things, who gave His only begotten Son, and in Him life eternal and glory and all things freely (Acts xvii, 25; John iii, 16; x, 28; xvii, 22; Rom. viii, 32). How desperately wicked and cruel the devil must be to blind people to the love of God, who giveth all things, that he may take all they have for time and eternity (II Cor. iv, 3, 4).
There is something more and deeper and far-reaching in this lesson chapter than the story of drunken Ben-hadad, whom God had appointed to utter destruction (verse 42) because of his sins. Ahab, king of Israel, was about as bad as a man could be, under the influence of his wicked wife, Jezebel, and yet for Israel's sake, but chiefly for His own great name's sake, for Israel was His people, though in rebellion against Him, He gave Ahab victory over Ben-hadad and his associates twice, although Israel's forces were like two little flocks of kids, while the Syrians filled the country (verse 27). He did this that Ahab might know Him as the true God instead of Baal, whom he worshiped to please his wife (verses 13, 28). By this great goodness He would if possible lead Ahab to repentance, for He is not willing that any should perish (Rom. ii, 4; II Pet. iii, 9).

Three times in this lesson the Lord sent special messengers to Ahab, twice to encourage him and once to reprove him (verses 13, 28, 38). At the first victory Israel slew the Syrians with a great slaughter, but they came again, saying, We were defeated because the gods of Israel are the gods of the hills; therefore we will fight against them in the plain and surely overcome them. Because they talked thus the Lord said by His second messenger that He would deliver this great multitude of Syrians into Ahab's hands, and so Israel slew 100,000 footmen of the Syrians in one day, and a wall fell upon 27,000 more and killed them, but Ben-hadad made his escape and hid in an inner chamber (verses 28-30).
The king of Syria's servants planned a scheme by which they might learn if Ahab was inclined to be merciful to him and spare him. Ahab called him "my brother" and said, "Go ye, bring him," so they met and made a covenant one with the other (verses 31-34). This led to the Lord's sending a third messenger with a reproof for Ahab because he had spared Ben-hadad, and "the king of Israel went to his house heavy and displeased (verse 43). We are reminded of Saul sparing Agag and also the best of the sheep and oxen, and also of the Lord's message by Samuel, "Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice" (I Sam. xv, 9, 22).

In last week's lesson we saw Jezebel possessed by the devil, and now we see two men with the same trouble. Ben-hadad and Ahab, and yet the Lord would have used Ahab had he been willing, but he preferred a compromise with the king of Syria rather than faithfulness to the God of Israel who had given him two such wonderful victories. So it is still; the mighty God, the God of Jacob, is ready to hold strongly with all whose hearts are whole toward Him (II Chron. xvi, 9, margin), but many professed servants of the Lord prefer to be friendly with some Ben-hadad rather than be faithful to God and rebuke their sin. "Busy here and there" (verse 40) with many things that are not of God describes the life of many a preacher, and rather compromising with certain wrong things because of the standing of the persons who do them than rebuke the wrong.
John H. Connelly, of Washington, D. C., who has been here the guest of Mrs. R. J. Connelly and family, left this morning for his home.

The Ball of Fire

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

and LILLIAN CHESTER

ILLUSTRATED BY C.D. RHODES

"That's a large proposition, Ed," stated Vance, very thoughtfully. All sense of levity had gone from this meeting. They had come, as they thought, to promote a large mutual interest, but not to weld a Frankenstein. "I did not understand your project to be so comprehensive. I fancied your idea to be that the various companies represented here, with Chisholm as financial controller, should take a mutual interest in the support of the Atlantic-Pacific, for the purpose of consolidating the railroad interests of the country under one management, thereby serving our own transportation needs."

"Very well put, Vance," approved Taylor, smoothing his pointed mustache. "That is a mere logical development of the railroad situation," returned Allison. "If I had not cemented this direct route, someone would have made the consolidation you mention within ten years, for the entire railroad situation has been disorganized since the death of three big men in that field; and the scattered holdings would be, and are, an easy prey for anyone vitally interested enough to invade the industry. I have no such minor proposition in mind. I propose, with the Atlantic-Pacific as a nucleus, to first, as I have said, bring the financial terminals of every mile of railroad in the United States into one central office. With this I then propose to combine the National Dairy Products consolidation, the Standard Cereal company, the Amalgamated Metals Constructive company, the Union Fuel, American Textiles, the United States Supplies, and the stupendous financial interests swayed by the banks tributary to the Majestic Trust company. I propose to weld these gigantic concerns into one corporation, which shall be the mightiest organization the world has ever known. Beginning with the control of transportation, it will control all food, all apparel, all construction materials, all fuel. From the shoes on his feet to the roof over his head, every man in the United States of America, from laborer to president, shall pay tribute to the International Transportation company. Gentlemen, if I have dreamed big, it is because I have dealt with men who deal only in large dreams. What I propose is an empire greater than that ever swayed by any monarch in history. We eight men, who are here in this room, can build that empire with a scratch of a pen, and can hold it against the assaults of the world!"

His voice rang as he finished, and Babbitt looked at him in wonder. Allison had always been a strong man, but now, in this second youth, he was an Antaeus springing fresh from the earth. There was a moment's lull, and then a nasal voice drawled into the silence.

"Allison," it was the voice of old Joseph G. Clark, who had built the Standard Cereal company out of one wheat elevator; "who is to be the monarch of your new empire?"

For just a moment Allison looked about him. Vastly different as these men were, from the full-bearded Haverman to the smooth-shaven old Joseph G. Clark, there was some one expression which was the same in every man, and that expression was mastery. These men, by the sheer force of their personality, by the sheer dominance of their wills, by the sheer virility of their purposes, by the sheer dogged persistence which balks at no obstacle and hesitates at no foe, had fought and strangled and throttled their way to the top, until they stood head and shoulders above all the strong men of their respective domains, safe from protest or dispute of sovereignty, because none has risen strong enough to do them battle. They were the undefeated champions of their classes, and the life of every man in that group was an epic! Who was to be monarch of the new empire? Allison answered that question as simply as he had the others.

"The best man," he said. There had been seven big men in America. Now there were eight. They all recognized that.

"Of course," went on Allison, "my proposition does not assume that any man here will begin by relinquishing control of his own particular branch of the International Transportation company; sugar, beef, iron, steel, oil and the other commodities will all be under their present handling; but each branch will so support and benefit the other that the position of the consolidation itself will be impregnable against competition or the assaults of government. The advantages of control, collection and distribution, are so vast that they far outweigh any possible question of personal aggrandizement."

"Don't hedge, Allison," barked Arthur Grandin. "You expressed it right in the first place. You're putting it up to us to step out of the local championship class, and contend for the big belt."

"The prize isn't big enough," pronounced W. T. Chisholm, as if he had decided for them all. As befitted his calling, he was slower minded than the rest. There are few quick turns in banking.

"Not big enough?" repeated Allison. "Not big enough, when the Union Fuel company already supplies every candle which goes into the Sudan, runs the pumps on the Nile and the motor boats on the Yang-Tse-Kyang, supplies the oil for the lubrication of the car of Juggernaut, and works the propeller of every aeroplane? Not big enough, when already the organizations represented here have driven their industries into every quarter of the earth? What shall you say when we join to our nucleus the great steamship lines and the foreign railroads? Not big enough? Gentlemen, look here!" He strode over to the big globe. From New York to San Francisco a red line had already been traced. Now he took a pencil in his hand, and placing the point at New York, gave the globe a whirl, girdling it completely. "Gentlemen, there is your empire!"

Again the nasal voice of old Joseph G. Clark drawled into the silence. "I suggest that we discuss in detail the conditions of the consolidation," he remarked.

The bell of Allison's house phone rang. "Mr. Dalrymple, sir," said the voice of Ephraim.

"Very well," replied Allison. "Show him into the study. Babbitt, will you read to the gentlemen this skeleton plan of organization? If you'll excuse me, I'll be back in five minutes."

"Dalrymple?" inquired Taylor. "Yes," answered Allison abstractedly, and went into the study.

He and Dalrymple looked at each other silently for a moment, with the old enmity shining between them. Dalrymple, a man five years Allison's senior, a brisk speaking man with a protruding jaw and deep-set gray eyes, had done more than any other human being to develop the transportation systems of New York, but his gift had been in construction, in creation, whereas Allison's had been in combination; and Dalrymple had gone into the railroad business.

"Dalrymple, I'm going to give you a chance," said Allison briskly. "I want the Gulf & Great Lakes Railroad system."

Dalrymple had produced a cigar while he waited for Allison, and now he lit it. He sat on the corner of the study table and surveyed Allison critically.

"I don't doubt it," he replied. "The system is almost completed."

"I'll accept a fair offer for your controlling interest," went on Allison.

"And if I won't sell?"

"Then I'll jump on you tomorrow in the stock exchange, and take it away from you."

Dalrymple smiled.

"You can't do it. I own my controlling interest outright, and no stock gamblings on the board of trade can affect either a share of my stock or the earning capacity of my railroad. When you drove me out of the traction field, I took advantage of my experience and entrenched myself. Go on and gamble."

"I wish you wouldn't take that attitude," returned Allison, troubled. "It looks to you as if I were pursuing you because of that old quarrel; but I want you to know that I'm not vindictive."

"I don't think you are," replied Dalrymple, with infinite contempt. "You're just a damned hog."

A hot flush swept over Allison's face, but it was gone in an instant.

"It happens that I need the new Gulf & Great Lakes system," he went on, in a perfectly level voice; "and I prefer to buy it from you at a fair price."

Dalrymple put on his hat.

"It isn't for sale," he stated.

"Just a minute, Dalrymple," interposed Allison. "I want to show you something. Look in here," and he opened the library door.

Dalrymple stepped to the opening and saw, not merely seven men, middle-aged and past, sitting around a library table, but practically all the freightable necessities of the United States and practically all its money, a power against which his many million dollar railroad system was of no more opposition than a toy train.

"I'll Jump on You Tomorrow in the Stock Exchange."

"— the transportation department to be governed by a council composed of the representatives of the various other departments herein mentioned," droned on the voice of Babbitt.

The representatives of the various other departments therein mentioned were bent in concentrated attention on every sentence, and phrase, and word, and syllable of that important document, not omitting to pay important attention to the pauses which answered for commas; and none looked up. Dalrymple closed the door gently.

"Now will you sell?" inquired Allison.

For a moment the two men looked into each other's eyes, while the old enmity, begun while they were still in the womb of time, lay chill between them. At one instant, Dalrymple, whose jaw muscles were working convulsively, half raised his hands, as if he were minded to fall on Allison and strangle him; and it was not the fact that Allison was probably the stronger man which restrained him, but a bigger pride.

"No," he said, again with that infinite contempt in his tone. "Break me."

"All right," accepted Allison cheerfully, and even with relief; for his way was now free to pursue its normal course. He crossed to the door which opened into the hall, and politely bowed Dalrymple into the guidance of old Ephraim.

"Dalrymple won't sell," he reported, when he rejoined his fellow members of the International Transportation company. Joseph G. Clark looked up from a set of jotted memoranda which he had been nonchalantly setting down during the reading.

"We'll pick it up in the stock market," he carelessly suggested. "Can't," replied Allison, with equal carelessness. "He's entrenched with solid control, and I imagine he doesn't owe a dollar."

Chisholm, with his fingers in his white mutton chops, was studying clean-shaven old Clark's memoranda. "A panic will be necessary, anyhow," he observed. "We'll acquire the road then."

HESPERIAN NOTE ARRIVES

Case Will Be Shelved For the Present by the United States.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The German note disclaiming responsibility for the sinking of the Canadian liner Hesperian was received at the state department. It was announced that the note was identical with reports of its text, published in press dispatches from Berlin.

As the state department does not consider that the evidence before it in the Hesperian case warrants the conclusion that the Hesperian was sunk by a torpedo, it is not the intention at present to make any further representations to Germany on the subject. So far as the state department is informed, it now has before it all of the evidence that it can hope to receive bearing on the question of whether it was a mine or a torpedo which caused the destruction of the ship. Therefore it is understood that the case will be shelved as being one in which it is impossible for this government to reach any definite conclusion warranting further action.

Joe Swope, son of Postmaster and Mrs. Allen Swope, is causing considerable worry to the Indiana University football squad by his visit here. The squad is being put through hard practice now and as the local boy is one of the mainstays of the team, the coach is anxious for him to return to Bloomington. He will leave Sunday. He will probably play at quarterback this year, having made an excellent record at this position last year.

Mrs. Mary McKee Smith and Miss Clara Massman, who have just returned from a trip to California, spent four days at Warren, Oregon, with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spalding, who formerly lived in this county. They are well pleased with their new home, and with their splendid crops. They sent back a sample of the wheat and oats grown on their farm. The oats measured about six feet in height, and the yield is ninety bushels per acre.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Heideman went to Indianapolis Thursday to spend a few days with relatives.

OPPOSE $1,000,000,000 LOAN

Bryan and Lewis Object to Anglo-French Transaction.

Washington, Sept. 17.—William J. Bryan has come out in opposition to the proposed billion dollar loan to the allies on the ground that it will impair the neutrality of the United States and tend to drag this nation into the war.

Mr. Bryan will be in Washington several days during which time he will confer with the foreign language newspaper editors, who contemplate sending him to Europe to end the war. Secretary McAdoo received from Senator Lewis of Illinois, a lengthy protest against the loan, which says in part:

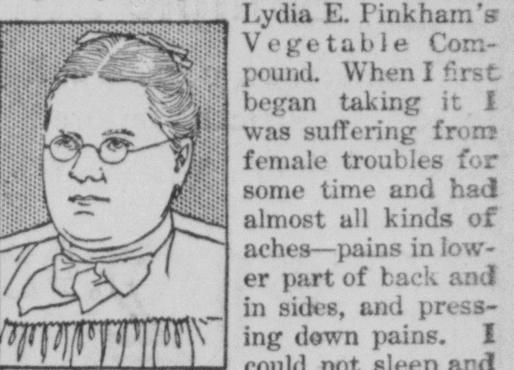

The effect of this foreign loan would be to take $1,000,000,000 from our people of their own money and lend it to nations who are spending $15,000,000 a day. In sixty days all of that money will be spent by the foreign nations and we will have in its place securities of two or three countries issued upon a credit already taxed beyond its resources and we will have no way left by law to collect the collateral."

MRS. LYON'S

ACHES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hill, Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—MRS. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these requisites, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, joints, and tissues. One becomes dumpy, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face."

"But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after-effects, has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, which has been called 'vegetable calomel' because of its effective action. Of course it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'sentinel' tablets—the name—and their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. Sentinel tablets, which may be procured from any druggist—a dime's worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blisters, Sallow Skin

(Messenger of Health.)

Unslightly eruptions, pimples, boils, blotches, sallow or muddy skin, usually are due to a sluggish liver, a constipated bowel—and a polluted blood stream as a consequence. How foolish in such cases to resort to outward applications, which can never have natural, permanent results. If more people only knew it, there is a very simple remedy, to be found in any drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick acting. It is an old formula, long recognized by the medical profession, and has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost no one need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits.

"Sentinel tablets"—that's the name—are entirely vegetable and there's no habit-forming ingredient. You need only get about a dime's worth, and swallow one at bedtime, and there's your skin, all quite so good for the purpose. The action in the morning is so easy, so soothing, and instead of a weakening after-effect, you are truly refreshed and invigorated. Sentinel tablets are not only the finest remedy known for constipation and torpid liver, but offer the sanest, most sensible treatment for complexion difficulties of the character mentioned.

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

They say that the advent of the "sentinel tablet" as a vegetable substitute for calomel has resulted in an extraordinary demand for this remarkable product. It seems to have made a hit particularly with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its advantages over calomel and the usual laxatives.

Sentinel tablets, aside from their efficacy, doubtless owe their success largely to a tendency to aid in bringing about natural functioning—instead of encouraging the "cathartic habit." Also, instead of injuring the membranous lining of the organs involved, they exert a healing influence. Instead of weakening, they add tone to the intestinal wall. And they work so easily and gently, they are of course preferred on this account to the violently acting purgatives. Their inexpressiveness is another reason for the popularity of sentinel tablets. One need procure only a dime's worth, and take one tablet upon retiring, to be convinced that the ideal remedy for constipation, torpid liver, and their many attendant ills, has finally been found.—Druggists Review.

PEDDLERS TO PAY HEAVY LICENSE

Ordinance Placed on First Reading
Provides a Fee of $15 for Day
Shall be Charged.

DEFINITION OF PEDDLER

Includes All Persons Who Makes
House to House Canvass or Exhibits Samples of Goods.

An ordinance providing that transient peddlers and salesmen shall be required to pay a license of $15 per day for the privilege of soliciting orders or selling goods, merchandise or products in this city was introduced by Councilman Andrews at the regular session of the council Thursday night. The ordinance is designed to protect local merchants and dealers.

The ordinance was placed on first reading and will take its usual course. It is understood that all the councilmen are in favor of its passage and that it will become an ordinance upon third reading.

The ordinance in full is as follows: "Be it ordained by the common council of the city of Seymour, Indiana, that section one of ordinance No. 649, passed by the common council of said city, June 9, 1910 and approved by the mayor June 15, 1910, amending ordinance No. 249 entitled, "An ordinance to restrain and license hawkers, peddlers, mediocators and auctioneers; to provide penalties for the violation of the several sections of said ordinance; to provide for publication of same and repealing all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict therewith" be amended to read as follows:

"Section 1—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to pursue the business of a peddler in the city of Seymour, Indiana without having first obtained from the clerk of the city of Seymour, Indiana, a license therefor for which he shall pay the following price:

"Fifteen dollars per day.
"A peddler for the purpose of this ordinance shall be held to be any person who by solicitation, or outcry takes anything from house to house in any manner, and offers to sell the same for money or barter the same for anything of value, or who in like manner exhibits any samples of anything to be sold or bartered, and offers to take orders for the sale or future delivery, provided, that this section shall not be held or deemed to include any ordinary drummer selling goods by sample to resident merchants, or any groceryman, greengrower, wood or coal or ordinary farm products, but shall include any person going from house to house in any manner, offering to sell butchered meats.

"Section 2—This ordinance shall be in force and effect from and after its passage and due and legal publication."

The ordinance is so framed that it will not include local people who sell by canvassing and is to protect local dealers from out-of-town peddlers.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

A portable skating rink is being installed as an additional amusement at the city park, and may probably be ready for use tomorrow.

R. O. Balsley, of Indianapolis, is in Seymour, his former home, visiting friends and relatives and will spend two weeks' vacation on White river near here.

Mrs. Victoria Boatman, of Jeffersonville, is the guest of her son, Clarence Boatman, and family. She has just returned from Columbus, where she attended the funeral of her brother, Joseph Schmitz.

The Reddington band will give afternoon and evening concerts at the city park Sunday. This splendid musical organization of Redding township always presents an excellent program, and a large crowd is assured Sunday.

Orville Bottorff, who has been acting as cashier on one of the crews of the Redpath circuit chautauquas the past season, came from Chicago yesterday and will spend a week at home before returning to Chicago to enter Chicago University for the fall and winter terms.

The funeral of Mrs. Sophia Louisa Gilbert was held from the residence on North Ewing street at noon today and from the Reddington church at 2 o'clock. The services were in charge of the Rev. H. R. Booch, pastor of the St. Paul church. The remains were interred at the Reddington cemetery.

A report from Columbus today stated that the authorities there had not succeeded in locating Frank Gaston, who is wanted as a witness in the Winfrey trial. The defendant is charged with the murder of Robert Sample, at Grammer, last May. Deputy Sheriff John W. Burns was here Thursday trying to locate Gaston.

Large crowds visited the new Dehler Shoe Store on South Chestnut street this afternoon during the formal opening. The store was beautifully and artistically decorated with floral designs and greenery, and presented a most attractive appearance. The store will be open this evening from seven until nine, during which time an orchestra will render music.

BLISH MILLING CO. ISSUES NEW COOK BOOK

Local Millers, in Connection With State Association, Boosting
Indiana Flour Industry.

Direct co-operation with the housewife is one of the means by which the Indiana Millers' Association is endeavoring to bring more forcibly before the public the superior merits of flour made in Indiana. To aid in this work the millers in various parts of Indiana have just issued a cook book, which it is their intention to distribute as widely as possible in Indiana homes.

The Blish Milling Company, of this city, who are members of the state association, have received a supply of the books, the title of which is "Better Baking with Indiana Flour" and will be glad to furnish a copy free to all housewives who desire copies. The local mill, in connection with the other mills of the state, is working in the great movement to gain wider recognition for the flour industry of Indiana.

These mills have adopted a set of rigid standards to which Indiana flour must conform, and the mills whose flour conforms to these standards are licensed to use a label adopted by the Millers' Association denoting that their flour has passed the tests and is guaranteed absolutely as pure.

The cook book is devoted exclusively to recipes using flour, such as bread, cakes, pastries, rolls, muffins, biscuits and delicacies of that nature. All the recipes are tested and are in strict accordance with the practice of modern domestic science. In addition to the recipes, between eighty and one hundred in number, the booklet discusses the values of different varieties of wheat and flour, and contains information that is of value to every housewife.

Indiana flour, such as is recommended by the cook book, has recently been used in numerous experiments conducted by the domestic science department of Purdue University, and the comparative tests made with various flours all turned out most convincingly in favor of the Indiana product.

You are invited to attend Dehler's new shoe room opening tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock. Music, flowers and souvenirs. Nothing sold. 4 South Chestnut St.

ROCKEFELLER WILL NOT LEND MONEY TO THE ALLIES

Multi-Millionaire States Positively
He Will Not Lend Money to Carry on War.

By United Press.

Copyrighted 1915 by the United Press Cleveland, O., Sept. 17—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., has definitely, positively and finally determined that he will take no part in lending money to carry on the conflict in Europe. In an interview obtained with the world's richest man by the United Press, it was learned today that the oil king has been offered opportunities to enrich himself further by lending money to the warring nations and that he has absolutely refused.

"Are you expecting a call from the commission of European bankers now in New York to negotiate a billion dollar loan for the Allies," Rockefeller was asked.

"No," he replied emphatically. "I certainly am not expecting a visit from the commission nor do I expect them to ask me for the war loan. They know I would not consider it."

Then after a pause—"Both England and Russia have asked me for loans. They were refused."

Again Rockefeller was meditatively silent a moment, then he exclaimed fervently:

"This war is awful. Don't you think it is awful?"

Today a man very close to Rockefeller stated authoritatively that on one occasion Rockefeller had been approached by Russia's agents with a deal involving $50,000,000 and had turned them down.

FOOT BALL WILL NOT BE PLAYED BY LOCAL SCHOOL

Basket Ball Track and Base Ball will Get Attention—Arrangements for Athletics.

Owing to the objections against high school football, there will be no team in the local school this winter. In fact, so many of the high schools in this section of the state have abolished the game altogether that it would be difficult to schedule games even if the Seymour school had a team. Coach Hendershot says that no attention will be given to the game here and his decision meets with the approval of the high school management.

The coach expects to have a winning basket ball team in the local high school this winter and early practice will be arranged. The team last year was exceptionally strong and made a splendid showing throughout the winter's schedule. Although some of the players on last year's team were graduated in the spring, there is plenty of good material and the indications are that there will be a large number of applicants.

Coach Hendershot won his "I" at Indiana University on the track and will emphasize this department of high school athletics. The track, however, may not be put in condition until spring. Attention will be given to base ball this fall, it is thought, and a meeting will be held in a short time to discuss the plans.

LOCAL BARBER STAGES SNAKE CHARMING STUNT

Fred EuDaly Handles Seven-foot Reptile While Adney Mackey Looks on in Amusement.

Barnum and Bailey's highest priced snake charmer never had a more appreciative nor interested crowd than the one which watched Fred EuDaly, the Indianapolis Avenue barber, capture his stray pet, a seven foot indigo snake, which, tiring of his imprisonment in a cage in the rear of the shop, had wriggled through a convenient knot hole in the floor and spent two days exploring the regions underneath the building.

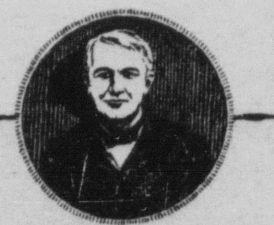

A cage was built around the only exit from the foundation of the building and a trap door arranged to shut off escape once his snakeship had left his hiding place. The big reptile came out about 4:30 yesterday afternoon and Adney Mackey, who was pursuing a "watchful waiting" policy at a safe distance from the box, jerked the string and the snake was unable to get back. But that was much as Adney had contracted to do, and the crowd which collected had to wait until Mr. EuDaly returned from supper, as no one seemed over anxious to take hold of the wiggler.

Miss Roseberry has moved her dressmaking establishment to 15½ East Second St. (over Richart's Clothing store) and will be ready for business Sept. 20, with all the latest fall styles. s22d
